"RABBI SAMUEL"

By HERBERT J. SAMUEL

It was not quite the thing for the Canadian Jewish Chronicle to publish an article last week purporting to have been contributed by "Rabbi Samuel." There is no writer or rabbi of the name "Samuel" so widely known as to be quotable by his surname alone, whereas it is only reasonable to assume that reference made in Montreal to "Rabbi Samuel" will quite naturally connote the present occupant of the pulpit of Temple Emanu-El. I do not suggest that the use of the name "Rabbi Samuel" was intentional, but I do venture to suggest that a sense of good taste would have made the identity of the contributor a little more clear. I am indifferent to what other reference is made to me in the pages of the Canadian Jewish Chronicle, but I am anxious that I shall not be suspected of any complicity in its editorial policy.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION

The handing down of the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada in the matter of the School Question has revived public interest in a vexed problem. As a new comer to Montreal, I do not feel justified in making any comment at this juncture. The final judgment cannot be forthcoming for quite a long time, and the hasty utterance of immature opinion cannot do any good, and might do much harm. The situation is a delicate one, and at the risk of being accused, in some quarters, of waiting for "instructions," I prefer to refrain from expressing any views for the present.

SELECTED IMMIGRATION

It is interesting to note the effect that the policy of "Selected Immigration" is having upon developments in Canada. Everyone is agreed that Canada must have immigration. In Parliament, in the Press, on the platform and at the luncheon table, there is a unanimous voice reiterating with depressing monotony the pressing need for population. But, with equal unanimity, does the parrot cry go up that immigration must be selected, that only those endowed by the grace of God with "Nordic" racial strains are fitted to participate in Canada's heritage and destiny. Nordic propensities have landed the present Dominion Government into an awkward situation. But that is perhaps beside the point. What is more germane to the issue is the pathetic stress that is being laid, in heavy type in the press upon the return, every now and again, of a few thousand Canadian-born Nordics who have failed to make good in the United States. These Nordic failures are welcomed on their return in the name of "Selected Immigration." It is not admitted as an argument, however, that had it not been for the unsound theory of "Selected Immigration," these Nordics would not have been forced to pack up and seek, unsuccessfully, new settlements elsewhere. Many of the returning trekkers are misguided and disillusioned Mennonites

ZIONISM VERSUS RELIEF

By FERDINAND M. ISSERMAN

An unfortunate and deplorable mental attitude has begun to prevail in some Zionist circles, which seem to see in every proposal for European relief, a declaration of war on Palestinian reconstruction. The plan of the Joint Distribution Committee to continue its relief work in Europe received a hostile reception from many Zionists. A. J. Freiman, of Ottawa, president of the Canadian Zionist Organization, in his message to the twentieth convention held in Montreal recently, openly declared his opposition to the $15,000,000 drive of the Joint Distribution Committee. His sentiments are shared by most of the members of the Zionist organization, and by some of the Toronto Zionist leaders. We feel that that attitude is unfortunate and is apt to act as a boomerang to Zionist work. We want to reiterate our oft-repeated view that the reconstruction of Palestine has a claim, and a just and historic claim on the generosity of world Jewry. We believe that the Keren Hayesod is not only doing constructive relief, but it is making possible the greatest creative adventure in Jewish life since the rebuilding of the second temple. No Jew who thrills at his people's history can be indifferent to the beautiful promise of Palestine. Surely for the bruised and battered Jew of Europe, Palestine to-day offers the most attractive haven. We would that the dispossessed, starving and unemployed Jewish masses of Poland, Bessarabia and the Ukraine could all be transplanted to Palestine. But that is not physically possible. Palestine could not accommodate all, nor could it absorb all into its budding economic life. Palestine, therefore, cannot solve the immediate problem of relief in Europe.

The cables from abroad are laden with tragic and harrowing tales which emanate from Poland's industrial centres. The following is a message from Miss Irma May, representative of the Joint Distribution Committee in Poland:

"There are 20,000 Jews registered here as unemployed, which means that about 80,000 people are without means of support, and their suffering is unspeakable. Eighty-five per cent. of the small traders in Lodz are doing no business, due to the closing of the factories and the lack of credit. The remaining fifteen per cent. are in agony. Due to the idleness of artisans in Lodz, 5,000 families, say another 20,000 men, women and children, are in terrible want.

"There is a fifty per cent. decrease here in commerce. Only 10,000 Jewish merchants have taken out commercial licenses this year, compared to 20,000 last year. Approximately 40,000 people are already affected and breadless because of the collapse of commerce, and the rest, those who are trying to keep their heads above water, are doomed to bankruptcy in the very near future.

"In the towns within the Lodz area, and especially Alexandrow, Konstantynow, Zelow, Turek, Fabiance, Belchatow, Czerkow and Brezinow, 400 small Jewish factories have been compelled to close, and the families of 20,000 manufacturers and merchants are starving.

"While complete statistics are as yet unavailable, the daily records show an alarming increase of hysteria, insanity and suicides within the last few months. School records disclose an increase of tuberculosis among children, due to malnutrition and lack of fuel and

All communications must reach this office, Suite 10, 288 St. James Street, not later than Monday noon of each week, and should be clearly typed, double space. Phones Main 4079, 8341 and 2285.

The Canadian Jewish Review urges organizations and subscribers to send in all the news they know about, but material is left out when at all difficult to read. No single-spaced typing accepted. News typed in double or triple space receives the best attention. Otherwise it should be written very plainly in ink on one side of the paper only with names and initials accurate. Articles concerning elections, appointment of committees, etc., which do not include names of those chosen will not be used. Accounts of engagements, marriages, births and deaths must bear name and telephone number of sender for easy identification. When news is omitted it usually means that it was not received in time or that it was received in condition too hard to correct or to be handled by the printer. Please observe the rules!

LITHUANIAN JEWS HAVE RELIGIOUS COUNCIL

The present clerical government of Lithuania, which abolished the Jewish National Council for which it received a severe rebuke from the Council of the League of Nations is apparently endeavouring to mend its ways and to improve conditions. Critics say that this change is to be ascribed to the approaching elections for the Parliament.
 In any event the Jews are not quite pleased with the new regulation, which provides for the establishment of a Jewish religious council, which is to include nine rabbis, who will be given the supreme authority to decide all matters affecting the Jewish religious life in Lithuania. The Jews of Lithuania have been struggling to receive recognition for the Kehillah organization, which should be composed both of rabbis and laymen. It is possible that the Agudas Israel organization in Lithuania accomplished this, so as to place all Jewish matters in the hands of an ecclesiastical body, which should have control of all Jewish affairs.

Five hundred Jews who made their way on foot from Moscow to Palestine who spent more than a year in travel, lost about 150 of their number on the road, according to the report brought by four of the number who have just arrived in Jerusalem by way of Bagdad. They made their way through Siberia, Turkestan, Armenia, Persia and Mesopotamia.

REGINA SEIDEN'S PAINTING PURCHASED BY GOVERNMENT

The Canadian government has purchased a portrait, "Nudes," by Regina Seiden, for the National Gallery at Ottawa. This is the third of Miss Seiden's portraits that the government has bought, the other two being "Dora" and "A Portrait."

SOCIETY BENEFIT DANCE

The Young Hebrew Maibish Arunim Society for the past twenty years have given clothing twice yearly to poor Jewish children, at the cost of $1175 per child. At the last clothing the demand was more than the officers anticipated, but all children were clothed, with the result that a large deficit was incurred. Proceeds of a dance to be given in the piazza of the Mount Royal Hotel, Sunday, February 21, will go towards paying off the deficit and creating a surplus fund to take care of the Passover clothing. In charge, Percy Caplan, chairman of the dance, M. Deskin, treasurer; D. L. Bernstein, secretary of the dance; Mr. and Mrs. Moe Trager, chairman of the bar; Saul Bloomberg, A. Amdursky, Joe Berger, Joseph Gentler; Mesdames Rabinovitch, Greenfield, Kaufman, Israel, Docks; Misses R. Rosensweig, Celia Perner, R. Wasserman, Harriet and others. For information, telephone D. Bernstein, secretary, Belair 8178-M.

MARRIAGES

Guttman-Schaffer

The marriage of Miss Bernetta Schaffer, daughter of M. Schaffer, of Blackville, N.B., to Shea Guttman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Guttman, of Chatham, Ontario, was solemnized, Sunday, January 31, in the ballroom of the Mount Royal Hotel, Rabbi Berger officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white crepe studded with rhinestones. Her veil of silk net was arranged in cap effect with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of-the-valley. The maid of honour Miss Lena Kiermeyer, wore a gown of green georgette, with tulle hat to match, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. The bridesmaids were Misses Rebecca Franklin, in white georgette; Anna Gilbert, pink georgette; Rose Winter, peach georgette; Jane Schaffer, pink georgette with gold lace trimmings. They also wore tulle hats to match their gowns, and carried bouquets of American Beauty roses. The best man was Joseph Guttman. The groomsmen were Philip Meyerovitch, Abe Solomon, Harry Bacal and Simon Guttman. The ushers were Chas. and Samuel Bacal, Harry Kiermeyer, Samuel Burman, Myer and Barney Burman. The flower girls were Grace Shalinsky, in a peach georgette frock, and Helen Popliger, baby blue georgette frock over pink georgette. Both carried baskets of roses, sweet peas and carnations. The ring-bearer was Alvin Guttman, in a Lord Fauntelroy suit. The gifts to the maid of honour and bridesmaids were bracelets with monograms, and to the best man and groomsmen cigarette cases. The wedding march was played by Max Schaffer, during the benediction which was given by Rabbi Julius Berger. A violin solo, "O Promise Me," was played by Eddie Gross, accompanied by Max Schaffer. Supper was served in the ballroom to three hundred guests. Mr. and Mrs. Shea Guttman left for New York, Atlantic City, Washington and Vineland, N.J., and will live in Chatham, Ontario. The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. Burke, of Providence, R.I.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Beller, of Quebec; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stern, of Vineland, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Moe Kiermeyer, of St. Raymond, Quebec; Mr. and Mrs. Schwable, of New York; Dr. Otto Klineberg, of New York; and Mrs. A. B. Bennett, of Toronto.

Rothman-Morgen

The marriage of Sophie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Morgen, to Simon Rothman, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Rothman, was solemnized at the Bnai Jacob Synagogue, Rabbi Julius Berger officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a white satin gown trimmed with real lace.

Her veil of silk net was arranged in cap effect with bandeau of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of roses and lilies, with shower of lilies-of-the-valley and babies' breath. The maid of honour was Miss Annie Morgen, who wore a pink taffeta gown with gold ribbon trimmings, and a large hat of pink tulle to match. She carried a colonial bouquet of Ophelia roses. The bridesmaids were Misses Lilly Borin, in powder blue georgette; Molly Dancovitch, powder georgette; Annie Sandler, old rose georgette; Lily Emelfarb, ashes of rose Canton crepe, and Nettie Solomon, of New York, niece of the groom, white georgette, beaded in rhinestones. They all carried bouquets of Ophelia roses. The flower girls were Ettie Rothman, in powder blue georgette, and Lilly Weiss, of Ottawa, in a powder blue georgette frock, with rosebud crown. Both carried baskets of narcissi and tulips. The page boy was Hyman Steirman, who wore a black velvet suit. The best man was Meyer Solomon. The groomsmen were A. Katz, M. Morgen, N. Frank, R. Feldman and H. Block. The bride's mother wore an orchid Canton crepe gown with corsage of Ophelia roses. A supper was served for four hundred and fifty guests. Mr. and Mrs. S. Rothman left for New York, Philadelphia and Atlantic City, and will live in Montreal. An exhibition of the Charleston was given by Miss Mary Steirman and the tango was danced by Miss Solomon. The out-of-town guests included Mrs. B. Solomon, of New York; Mrs. Y. Weiss, of Ottawa; Mrs. J. Greenberg, Shirley Bernstein, of Toronto; and Miss Nettie Solomon, of New York.

Bobrove-Maron

The marriage of Mollie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Maron, to Isidore, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Bobrove, was solemnized Sunday, January 31, at the Mount Royal Hotel, Rabbi Berger officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white crepe romaine, studded with rhinestones and sequins. Her veil of silver lace was arranged in cap effect with rhinestones and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, lilies-of-the-valley, and babies' breath. Miss Esther Maron, sister of the bride, was maid of honour in white georgette, trimmed with rhinestones and ostrich feathers, and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses. Bernard Sigler was best man. The bridesmaids were Misses Goldie Maron, in apple-green georgette; Sarah Levine, lavender georgette; Bess Shapiro, orchid georgette; and Regina Weiner, coral georgette. All carried bouquets of tea roses. The ushers were Dave Cahanna, Sydney Schaeffer, A. Cooper and Lionel Maron. The flower girls, Bernice Maron and Goldie Shapiro, in old-fashioned costumes of pale blue flowered taffeta, carried baskets of narcissi and sweet peas. The page boys were Boris Shapiro and Boris Levine, both in Little Lord Fauntelroy suits.

ENGAGEMENTS, BIRTHS AND MARRIAGES

Blostein—Ivry

The marriage of Leah Ivry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Ivry, to Moses Blostein, was solemnized Sunday, February 7, at New Adath Jeshurun Synagogue, Rabbi Julius Berger officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white satin crepe, trimmed with lace and white flowers. Her veil of silk net was arranged in cap effect with clusters of orange blossoms and crown of rhinestones. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies, roses, lilies-of-the-valley and carnations. The matron of honour was Mrs. J. J. Marks, of Ottawa, who wore peach georgette, combined with metallic cloth. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. The best man was J. J. Marks. The mother of the bride wore a black cut velvet gown, with corsage of American Beauty roses. A reception was held at the home of the bride, 1658 Hutchison Street, for seventy-five guests. Mr. and Mrs. Moses Blostein will live in Montreal. The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Marks, Maurice Marks, Miss Anne Golub and Mr. and Mrs. L. Blostein, all of Ottawa; and Mrs. R. L. Staviss, of New York.

Chorney—Loewenstein

Miss Eleanor Loewenstein, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Louis C. Loewenstein, 180 Riverside Drive, New York, and John B. Chorney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Chorney, were married Wednesday, February 3, at the Hotel Commodore, by Dr. Stephen S. Wise and Dr. David de Sola Pool. A reception and dinner to one hundred and fifty guests followed. The bride's father gave her away. Mrs. William Weisskopf, of Philadelphia, a sister of the bride, was matron of honour, and the other attendants were Misses Carolyn Marx, Gertrude Rosenbaum, Ruth Rosenberger and Rose Schwartz, of New York; Jennie Chorney and Esther Levy, of Montreal. Miss Elsa Loewenstein, of Philadelphia, was flower girl. Melvin Chorney, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Leo Brown and Ben Singer, of New York; Peter Usher, Gene Kruger, A. Wigdor and M. Silver, of Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. J. Chorney will live in Montreal on their return from a month's wedding trip south.

Amdur—Amdur

The wedding of Miss Minnie Amdur, daughter of the late Mr. N. Amdur and of Mrs. Amdur, to Frank Amdur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Amdur, of New York, took place at the home of the bride's mother. The bride, who was given away by her brother Jacob H. Amdur, was gowned in ivory crepe Elizabeth. Her veil was draped in coronet style with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of Columbia roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Her only attendant was Miss Belle Amdur, sister of the groom, maid of honour, who wore a shaded blue georgette gown and carried American Beauties. Leon Amdur, of Belgium, brother of the bride, was best man. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Berger, assisted by Rev. de la Perthe. Mr. and Mrs. Amdur left later for an extended honeymoon to the Orient, and on their return will live in New York City.

THE CHATEAU FRONTENAC, QUEBEC, AND WINTER SPORTS PROGRAMME

With seasonable weather prevailing and a nice blanket of snow on the ground, winter sport season in Quebec City is now well under way. The snow-covered beauty and exhilaration of a winter vacation are a growing need. Winter sports are quick and effective restoratives, bringing to you the enjoyments of glowing youth, up in the spruce country where amidst the colour, mirth and hospitality of old Quebec, the true winter carnival spirit is to be found.

The recent fire at the Canadian Pacific's famous hotel, the "Chateau Frontenac," has caused no interruption in the social activities, there being ample accommodations and public rooms for guests, nor in the winter sports programme arranged by the Sports Director of Chateau Frontenac and the Frontenac Winter Sports Club. Organized activities and interesting events daily, include skating, snow-shoeing, hockey, skiing, Mardi Gras Carnival, etc. Vari-coloured costumes present a brilliant spectacle. The season terminates with the open championship bob sled races February 27.

Hotel reservations arranged. Full particulars of railroad and sleeping car fares gladly furnished on application to any Canadian Pacific Agent.

THE SALE OF KOSHER MEAT IN PALESTINE

Rabbinical supervision of the sale of kosher meat is not required in Palestine, in the opinion of the Palestine Supreme Court in a ruling handed down last week, according to a Jewish Telegraphic Agency despatch from Jerusalem. The case arose out of a complaint against the order of General Storrs, acting on the complaint of the Chief Rabbinate, to close the shops of Jewish butchers in Tel Aviv who are slaughtering animals without license from the Rabbinate. The court ruled that the Rabbinical Council is not entitled to interfere in the matter. Butchers are permitted to pursue their business without license from the Rabbinate, provided the Mosaic law is scrupulously observed by them.

WILL MAKE GEOGRAPHICAL SURVEY OF PALESTINE

A new geographical survey of Palestine will be made by a special committee formed in Florence, Italy. The survey will be made for a new Italian encyclopaedia which is being prepared under the editorship of Professor Gentile, Minister of Education in the first Mussolini cabinet.

Several Jewish scholars in Italy have been invited to co-operate in the preparation of the new edition. Among them are Professor Bonfanti, editor of the law section of the encyclopaedia, Dr. Enriques, professor at the University of Rome, former teacher of Professor Albert Einstein, who will edit the section on mathematics.

The committee which will make the geographical research of Palestine was formed on the initiative of the Italian Geographical Institute and is headed by Professor de Filippi. Professor Roberto Almagia, a Jewish scholar, professor at the University of Rome, is vice-president of the committee. The initiator of the idea was General Vachelli, who, as a representative of the Military-Geo-

THE MONUMENT NATIONAL THEATRE

This week the Hollander Troupe will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the stage by presenting one of Goldfaden's greatest successes, "Shif-Machirim" operetta. Abraham Goldfaden is one of the founders of the Yiddish stage, and his other works are expected to be equally good. Hannah Hollander, the leading lady, has an unusually good voice and shows up her fine acting to perfection. The play can be seen on Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday, February 12, 13 and 14. Those who have never been to any of the Jewish theatres will find this week's attraction well worth while.

500 JEWS LEFT RUSSIA TO GO ON FOOT TO PALESTINE

Tales recalling the medieval Palestine pilgrimage adventures were described by four Jewish immigrants from Soviet Russia who arrived in Jerusalem via Bagdad. The four are members of a group of 500 Russian Jews who left Soviet Russia last year with the intention of going on foot to Palestine through Persia. Many were arrested by the officials on the frontier and were exiled to Siberia. About 150 of the group died en route, the new arrivals declared. The other surviving members are expected to arrive shortly.

Stanislaw Steiger has well earned the rest he is now taking incognito in the city of Warsaw. We hope he will not permit himself to become a fool in the hands of exploiters either in this country or elsewhere.

Theodore T. Ellis, who is a Christian publisher, gave $6,000 to help remove a $12,000 mortgage from the Hebrew Free School of Worcester, Mass.

For the juveniles prizes are radio sets, basket balls, sewing machine and sewing baskets. In the last Mark T. McKee contest, members Selector, Lazarus and Bosnack won. A gold necklet goes to the lady who brings in the highest number of members, and a gold watch to the gentleman, within the next two months. P. Lustgarten has offered an invitation to a banquet, at which Supreme officers of Headquarters will be invited, to any member bringing in five or more new members. Congratulations were offered to Lightstone on the birth of a baby son, and to L. M. Goldberg on the birth of a baby daughter. In order to celebrate the twenty-ninth year a bridge and dance will be held for members at the Homestead's headquarters, February 16, under the supervision of Lady Rowena, Mrs. R. Selector. Five-piece orchestra.

The Berlin Jewish School for Boys, giving tuition to six hundred Jewish boys, celebrated its hundredth anniversary recently. At the same time the twenty-fifth anniversary of the connection of Dr. Joseph Gutman, the director of the School, was celebrated.

JEWISH LORD NORTHCLIFFE

That Russian art and literature, especially of the contemporary period, are little known is again illustrated by the mild reception accorded to Alexander Kogan in this country. Kogan easily ranks as one of the three most important publishers in all Europe. Although still in very early middle age, he has been recognized on the Continent as the cleverest and most artistic representative of the publishing profession that ever emerged from Russia. In this country his periodicals and magazines enjoyed a power and prestige never attained by any other group of publications. It was he who inaugurated the penny newspapers in Russia. The power he wielded may be estimated by remembering that his "Gazeta Nepeka" reached a circulation of one million, which in a land like Russia is equal to five or ten million in this country.

But Kogan deserves greater consideration for the distinction of his artistic productions than for his prolific activities. As editor and publisher of various art magazines he set a new standard in art publications. His "Jar Ptiza," published in Berlin, is acknowledged as the world's finest art magazine, which has even won acclaim in this country.

At present he, in company with Mr. Koppelman, a French Jewish publisher, is preparing to issue a volume on Palestine, relating the history of that country in pictures and essays. Mr. Kogan was kind enough to show us the material he had gathered in Palestine at the head of a special expedition which included among its collaborators Pasternak, Zuckerman, Feder, Slousch, Rask and Pann. We can only repeat what others have long said, when we realize that Mr. Kogan's work is not being seized upon by the American Jewish community, the Jews of America have not as yet developed a proper appreciation of the arts. The photographs, drawings, engravings and miniatures which Mr. Kogan has assembled in his pictorial history of Palestine are remarkable in view of the limited resources at his command.

Mr. Kogan is at present planning to publish several illustrated volumes a year which Jews could be interested in and which would sell cheaply because of mass production. It cannot be said that the reception accorded Mr. Kogan augurs well for the success of his undertakings. It is sad for Mr. Kogan but it is a worse commentary on the state of American Jewry.

A Letter from a Father to His Daughter

My dear daughter Miriam:

You have read in the press of the alleged declaration by Dr. Wise, in a lecture, December 10, 1925, that Jesus was a person, not a myth, that Jews can accept some of his teachings. Dr. Wise declared the press had warped his statement and interpolated thereon. The Agudath Harabonim demanded that Wise resign as chairman of the five-million-dollar Palestine campaign. Fortunately for Dr. Wise, the Agudath Harabonim have no power, otherwise he would have paid with his life at the gallows, the stake or the rack. As it is, the good old shepherds had to be content with excommunicating Wise as their predecessors excommunicated Baruch Spinoza, the Jewish philosopher of all times.

The Agudath Harabonim lost sight of the fact that Wise's resignation would have entailed a loss of probably two or three million dollars to the Palestine fund this year. They were prepared to lose Palestine provided Wise went with it.

It is to be regretted that our orthodox rabbis are so poorly equipped. Not only are they poor shepherds of their flocks, they are poor followers of the goats.

There are thousands of Jewish families scattered throughout the Central and Western States and Canada in small towns. Their sons and daughters are without Jewish education or instruction. All they know is what they learn in the public school. The school-ma'am is not a competent scripture teacher. Her rendition is usually coloured with the tint of her own creed.

Dr. Wise, if he did make the statement attributed to him, gave the orthodox rabbis an excellent opportunity to challenge his statement in the Yiddish and Jewish-English press. They missed a golden opportunity to do good propaganda without cost. For example, they could have proven that there is no record in Jewish sources that Jesus ever lived. Had a person like him who led to such tremendous consequences to our people ever lived, our history would have given record of him and would have made mention of him.

The only record from Jewish sources about a man like Jesus is found in the history of Josephus, "Jewish Antiquities" Volume 18, chapter 3, section 65. It reads in part thus: "Now there was about this time, Jesus, a wise man, if it be lawful to call him a man, for he was a doer of wonderful work, a teacher of such men as receive the truth with pleasure. He drew to him many of the Jews and many of the Gentiles. He was the Christ whom Pilate at the suggestion of the principal men amongst us, had condemned to the cross."

Scholars of all shades of opinion admit this to be a forgery. Josephus is not the man to say of a man who can cure the dead as did Elisha, or raise the dead as did the prophets, or increase the supply from the fishes (other apostles say seven fishes) into a larger quantity as did Elisha multiply from one cruse of oil into an unlimited supply (if it be lawful to call Elisha a man), "if it be lawful to call him a man." This statement bears the marks of a pagan writer, and the story of Jesus being the Christ confirm that. The further statement that Jesus was a teacher of such men who receive the truth with pleasure is the last straw that gives the forgery away, for we have presently from the gospels that the sayings there attributed to a man Jesus disqualify him as a teacher and certainly as a teacher telling the truth.

Furthermore, whoever the forger, we must give him credit for a deep sense of drama. The chapter where the forgery is found records a dastardly event in Rome where Pauline, a handsome and virtuous woman, the wife of Saturnius, a Roman nobleman, was decoyed into the Temple of Isis by the pagan priest at the request of Decius Mundus who was desperately in love with Pauline, but she being virtuous, spurned his love. When the priest brought Pauline word that the god Isis sent for her, she considered it a great honour to be considered worthy of the divine honour. Thus she spent the night with the sensualist Mundus in the Temple thinking the god was her companion. Mundus himself, to besmear Pauline's character gave the intrigue away. Tabirius, after investigation, ordered the Temple destroyed. The priest and Mundus were crucified.

The forger thus shows that the immaculate conception, the Christian god-head and the father and sonship of the Christian speculation had existed in potentia among the Romans probably thousands of years. The story of Remus and Romulus, their father the war god Mars, their mother a vestal virgin, is further evidence that the earliest writers of Roman history believed that gods did espouse the daughters of men.

But assuming that we accept the story of the evangel that Jesus was a person, that he did do wonders, and that he did teach, the same evangel proves further that he was (first) inconsistent, (second) unreliable, (third) ignorant of the law, unqualified to teach and a very poor example for others to follow. From whatever point of view the Agudath Harabonim would have challenged the statement attributed to Dr. Wise, they would have shown his opinion unworthy of credence.

Jesus is made to say, "Think not I am come to destroy the Law or the Prophets but to fulfill. Verily I say unto you, till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the Law. Whosoever shall break one of the least commandments and shall teach men so, shall he be called the least in the Kingdom of Heaven, for I say unto you that except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and the pharisees ye shall in no wise enter into the Kingdom of Heaven." Matt. 5, 17-20. Here we have two important statements, first, the law must be obeyed; second, the Christian must be a better man than the Jew before he can hope for salvation.

The first declaration Jesus himself breaks and disobeys when one of his apostles says to him, "Suffer me to go and bury my father." Jesus says to him, "Follow me and let the dead bury their dead." Matt. 8, 21. Again when one of his disciples came and told him, "Your mother and your brethren stand without; they would speak with you." He answered and said unto him, "Who is my mother and who are my brethren?" Stretching forth his hands towards his disciples he said, "Behold my mother and my brethren." Matt. 12, 46-47.

He preaches the importance of the commandments but breaks them himself. It is alleged he said, "Think not I am come to send peace, but a sword. I am come to set man at variance with his father, and the daughter against the mother, the daughter-in-law against the mother-in-law, and a man's foe shall be he of his own household." Matt. 10, 34-35. Further, "And a brother shall deliver up his brother unto death, and the father the child, and the children shall raise up against their parents and cause them to be put to death." Matt. 10, 21.

When he is alleged to have had a disagreement with his most faithful follower, Simon Peter, he turned and said unto Peter, "Get thou behind me, Satan; thou art offensive unto me." Matt. 16, 22-23. Not at all becoming to a preacher or teacher. When a Grecian woman besought him to cast out the devil from her daughter, he refused to help her, telling her, "It is not meet to take the children's bread and cast it unto the dogs." Mark 7, 26-27. Those who were not one with him in race and creed, He designated as dogs, at times as swine. He apparently was not concerned with the needs of suffering humanity if any were not of his faithful followers. "I pray not for the world but for those whom Thou hast given me." St. John 17-9.

We are told when he found a fig tree barren of figs out of season, he cursed it because it had no fruit upon it, so that it died. "If any man come to me and hate not his father, his mother, and wife and children, and brothers and sisters and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple." St. John 14, 26. These are but few of the teachings credited to Jesus.

As for us, we prefer the maxims of our Jewish teachers.

הוה סלמטתו של משה: אמתה שלום ורחוק שלום אמתה סלמטתו וסלמטתו ליהוה "Be of the disciples of Aaron, a lover of peace, a pursuer of peace, and a drawer of men to the Law." (1 About 12). The maxim of the Jewish teachers from Moses to Malachi was "Remember ye the Law of Moses, my servant, which I commanded unto him in Horeb for all Israel. Behold I will send you Elijah the Prophet before the coming of the great and terrible day of the Lord and he shall turn the hearts of the fathers to the children and the hearts of the children to the fathers." Malachi 2, 22-24.

There can be no possible abridgement or compromise between the ideas of Rome as found in the sayings attributed to Jesus and the ideas of Jerusalem as declared by our Jewish teachers.

Supposing we test the accuracy of the allegations found in the gospels, that Jesus, while yet a child, had confused the old scholars who were mighty in the Law with his wisdom and by his deep insight into things obscure. He boasted that his father revealed all things to him. "And one of the scribes came, and having heard them reasoning together and perceiving that he (Jesus) answered them well, asked him, 'Which is the first commandment of all?' And Jesus answered him, 'The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel, our God is one Lord."

וה' אחד ואתו לא יהיה אלוהים אחר "And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind and with all thy strength. This is the first commandment. And the second is namely this: Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There are none other commandments greater than these." Mark 12, 28-31.

Here we find that this wonderful, wise teacher did not know the first or second commandment and went to Deut. 6, 4-9. Every school child, Jew or Gentile, knows this is not the first commandment. It is a declaration one Jew makes to another in time of danger to prove to his fellow-Jews that he is whole in faith.

As further proof of this teacher's deep, divine knowledge, one of the writers of the synoptic gospel proves his wonderful learning thus: Jesus reprimanding a number of Jews is alleged to have argued thus: "I have done one work and ye all marvel; Moses therefore gave you circumcision, not because it is of Moses, but of the Father, and ye on the Sabbath day circumsise a man." St. John 7, 21-22. Such a competent teacher was he that he discovered circumcision to have been instituted by Moses. Let us hope it was the ignorance of the fathers of the early church, not the stupidity of the supposed young student of Rabon Gamliel (Jesus is claimed to have studied under Gamliel), which is responsible for such blunders. There is a brighter side to Jesus, his supposed Sermon on the Mount known as the Golden Rule, but here his alleged teaching of submission goes to such impossible extremes. If it were humanly possible to fulfil it, it would become a vice rather than a virtue. "If thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out and cast it from thee, that one of thy members should perish and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell, and if thy right hand offend thee, cut it off and cast it from thee. You have heard it said an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth, but I say unto you resist not evil, but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek turn to him the other also, and if any man will sue thee at the law and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. You have heard it said thou shalt love thy neighbour and hate thine enemy, but I say unto you, love your enemies, bless them that curse you." Matt. 5, 29-30-38-40-44. "Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast your pearls before swine." Ibid 7-6.

If a miscreant plucks out one's eye, to give him the other is a vice not a virtue. If a man breaks one's tooth, to give him the remainder to be broken is a vice not a virtue. If a man smites you on the cheek to offer him the other also is a vice not a virtue. These encourage brutality.

If a man takes your coat, to offer your cloak also is a vice not a virtue, for such acts would encourage vagrancy. To give one's wealth away is a sin for he is depriving his dependents of what is rightfully theirs. To set out to become an object of charity is a sin. Wealth is not the root of all evil, but the blessing of all good when properly used.

To love one's enemy is not human. The Eternal gave us statutes and ordinances that are intended to be observed. They are human, humanly possible, and calculated to make life, limb, honour and property safe. "He that smiteth a man so that he dieth shall surely be put to death." Exod. 21, 12. "He that smiteth his father or mother shall surely be put to death." Ibid. 21, 15.

Jesus preaches, "Think not that I am come to bring peace on earth, for I am come to set man at variance with his father." Matt. 10, 34-35. We are not asked to love our enemy. This is not possible. But if we meet our enemy's ox or ass going astray we must surely bring it back to him. If we see a beast of burden of him who hates us laying down under his load, we must forbear from passing but must surely release it even with the aid of that enemy." Exod. 23, 5. We are forbidden to wrong a stranger. The Law places him on an equality with the widow and the fatherless." Exod. 22, 20-22. And again, "A stranger shalt thou not oppress for ye know the heart of a stranger seeing you were strangers, etc." Ibid. 22, 9.

One manner of law shalt thou have for the sojourner and the stranger. Such laws are human. They are practical because they are possible. To call strangers dogs, swine, to turn one's back on them may be good teachings for our neighbours, Gentile friends. As for us we prefer a more rational system, and refuse to compromise them with those thought by the writer about Jesus.

If Dr. Wise prefers to compromise, which I much question, our Union of Orthodox Rabbis should have shown our own youth and our good Gentile neighbours that we do not want compromise, for it is very dangerous.

Judas Iscariot was apparently a decent young man, but when he began to mix his kiddush wine with the drink of the Christian communion, he became a despicable demon, sold his dearest friend for $1.50 in Canadian funds. Peter, sometimes called the Canaanite, sometimes called the Jew, sometimes known as Thou Satan, was apparently a decent old man, but when he began to compromise his Jewish conduct with that taught him by the blessed new dispensation of love, he became an unspeakable traitor, turning his back upon his master in his greatest hour of need of a friend. He disowned Jesus twice in so many minutes before a Jewish housemaid in the kitchen. He slew old Ananias and his poor old wife Sapphira to possess their little savings on pretext that the Holy Ghost dictated it. He blackmailed his apostolic associates Luke and John. These two preached obedience to the Laws of Moses as the only means to the Heavenly Kingdom (Luke 16, 17, and 1st John 5, 3), while Peter argued to the assemblage of bishops thus, "Now why tempt ye God to put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples (the Law of Moses is a yoke to him)

A propaganda sheet for the United Palestine Appeal, under whose auspices Chaim Nachman Bialik, the Hebrew poet, speaks in this country, says: "In 1923 Bialik was fifty years old and all over the world wherever the Jewish spirit is still a living thing, the occasion was observed and celebrated." Well, that may be, but as far as the CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW is concerned, the occasion was more than observed and even over-celebrated. As its admired contemporaries, such as they are and what there is of them, will delight forever to remember, and as the REVIEW itself is never loth to recall, it remained to this distinguished journal of wisdom, wit and opinion, to chronicle the death of Bialik at that time prematurely.

Of course it was because a contributing writer had been confused momentarily and because the managing editor was listening to stories at Child's restaurant instead of being at the print-shop where he belonged, to watch the stuff go through, but these are details that the world need never know. Suffice it to say that, when other papers some day record the fact that the poet, Bialik, is dead, since death is inevitable, it will be true. But none there are who may claim with the REVIEW that they surrounded him in life with the verbal bouquets customary only after death. Seldom are the insignificant reported dead before the doctor says so. It remains for the great to have reports of their death exaggerated, as Mark Twain said. So the REVIEW's error was a compliment to Bialik, if an unintentional one. Now the freshest kind of honors greet him. The Canadian Jewish Chronicle, in its quaint, accidentally happy way, has already presented him to a waiting world as the poet "laurette" no less, of the Jewish people. May Bialik survive all this, the United Palestine Appeal, receptions, its zealous committees and its broiled fresh lake trout and may he go home when he is ready and live as long again as he has lived till now!

Rube Goldberg, the cartoonist, once drew a picture of a trap-drummer with twelve hands. Had he illustrated an article called "The Rabbi's Wife," written by Mrs. Moses Hyamson in the current Forum, he would have drawn a rebbitzin with twelve heads, twelve pairs of hands and feet, twelve minds, etc., living the sweet peaceful life that Mrs. Hyamson, after thirty-three years as a rabbi's wife, gently maps out for her lady colleagues. The picture would have borne the explanation: "A lady who needs no home life and should never have a moment to herself."

Mrs. Hyamson places her character in "a hurly-burly of congregational activity and communal service" and tells her not to let the rabbi overwork, to let him study, not to let him fritter his energies on trivialities nor allow well-meaning congregants to fritter his energies. This last is almost incredible coming from a woman who has been a rabbi's wife for thirty-three years. Has Mrs. Hyamson had no experience with leisure class women with nothing to do except take the receiver from the hook? Does she know nothing of the social climber who must have the rabbinical pair grace the dancing party, of the well-meaning member who thinks they will be offended otherwise?

The rabbi's wife is told to save her husband from despondency, be his private censor and point out to him tactfully his foibles and "slight" shortcomings from which "even he is not entirely free." She is cautioned against openly taking part in the settling of problems. She may be the power behind the throne but never in front of it, because congregations resent any suggestions "no matter how valuable, from the rabbi's wife." She has the "privilege of preserving peace in the congregation," something the writer calls "an exceedingly difficult task requiring tact, patience and delicate handling."

The rebbitzin should visit her congregants as much as possible and make them feel that they can have easy access to her. She must try to be the confidant of every family and "must never be tempted in the slightest way to hint of what has been confided to her." This, Mrs. Hyamson warns, would be a faux pas. To the rabbi's wife belongs, too, the task of teaching the young daughters of the congregation "how to preserve the beauty, purity, modesty and holiness of the Jewish family" and also to tell them anything else in this age of evil influences and sceptical indifference that mothers can't bring themselves to say to their up-to-date daughters. The writer would have the rabbi's wife a sort of guardian angel-uplifter to all this nice raw material and change it into something like herself with her own outlook, etc. The rebbitzin must never forget the poor and must encourage all philanthropy. If the community is small she will teach Sunday school, too. She should not be president of the Sisterhood, but if she is, "must be careful to divide the work and still more carefully distribute the honours."

Mrs. Hyamson concedes that these multifarious duties will take a great deal of time and the rebbitzin must be careful not to over-tax her strength! It is a good thing for Mrs. Hyamson that rabbi wives have never been known to wait in dark alleys with crowbars and pieces of lead pipe, until their advisers come by, for those with spirit have a just grievance against her. But detached readers will get many a chortle out of Mrs. Hyamson's article and they are really indebted to her for such a sorry picture of Jewish community life as she certainly never intended to paint.

Social Life about 25 Years Ago— Do You Remember?—

In Montreal a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sisenwain. The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Samit died. People were trying to find a place for an English Jewess as a mother's help in a Jewish family. L. Aaronson, Craig Street, died. He was born in Woltzawek, Poland. At a concert given by the Boys' Hebrew Benevolent Society those on the programme were E. Silverston, Misses Eva Nathan, Annie Pickleman and Helen Lewis. Sixty friends of Miss Mary Rothschild, St. Louis Square, gave a party in honour of her engagement to Phillip Pensky, of New York. Misses B. Morris, J. Harris and G. Goldstein entertained. Mitchell Holstein, twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Holstein, St. Famille Street, died after a few days' illness. Their daughter, who was ill of scarlatina, recovered. Officers elected by the Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent Society: Sarah Rubenstein, president; Dora Lazarus, vice-president; Julie Fischel, treasurer; Ray Rubenstein, honorary secretary; trustees, Katherine de Sola, Fanny Hart, Rachel Workman, Sara Fischel, Mary Schwersensky, Mary Friedman, Fanny Harris. At concerts, in aid of the General Hospital, Miss Beckie Keilert sang "I'm Thine Forever," and Miss Eugenie Lewis played Nichode's "Etude de Concert" and Wienawski's Valse. Officers elected by the Zionist Society: President, Jacob Cohen; first vice-president, J. S. Leo; second vice-president, H. V. Levetus; treasurer, Israel Rubenstein; corresponding secretary, Clarence I. de Sola; recording secretary, Mr. Weinfield; council, H. Bernstein, M. Carmin, Harris Fineberg, K. Freeman, J. A. Jacobs, Sol Kellert, Isaac Kirschberg, A. Gross, H. Sessenwain; propaganda committee, M. Shapiro, chairman; S. Levinson, A. Levine, M. Davis, Manis, Feigleson, L. Heilig, S. Willensky, H. A. Haskell, A. Blaustein. Mr. and Mrs. J. Rosen, 109 Henry Avenue, Winnipeg, announced the engagement of their daughter, Clara, to Charles Hoenitz, Grand Forks, N.D. Bessie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Green, died at the age of fourteen years at St. John, N.B. She attended the Academy of the Sacred Heart. A poem in memory of her was published in the St. John Sun.

A Letter

which neither our Fathers nor we were able to bear?" Acts 15, 10.

James and John, the sons of Zebedee, were apparently decent fellows, but when they began to compromise their Judaism with Christianity, they became rabid individuals trying to steal a march on the other apostles. "And James and John came to him saying, 'Master, grant unto us that we may sit one on thy right hand and one on thy left hand in glory.'" But Jesus said unto them, "Ye know not what ye ask." Mark 10, 35-37. In fact there was no peace nor friendship among the disciples. Luke 9, 46. See also Luke 1, 4, 3rd John 1, 9, Galatians 1:14, Romans 15, 30-33. The envy, hate and jealousy between Peter and Paul was deep-rooted, so open that the latter was in fear of his life of the old Caracalla Simon Peter. And why? Paul argues thus: "For though you have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet have ye not many fathers? For as Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the Gospel, wherefore I beseech you to be followers of me." 1st Corinthians 4:15. "And when there had been some disputing, Peter rose up and said, 'Men and brethren, ye know that a good show to God made choice among us that the Gentiles by my mouth should hear the word of the Gospel and believe.'" Acts 15, 7.

Paul, to retrieve lost ground, admits having had recourse to falsehoods. "And as the Jews I became as a Jew that I might gain the Jews; to them that were under the Law as under the Law that I might gain them that are under the Law; to them that are without the Law as without the Law that I might gain them that are without the Law. To the weak I became as weak that I might gain the weak. I am made all things to all men that I might by all means save some, and this I do for the Gospel's sake that I might be partaker thereof with you." 1st Corinthians 9, 20-23.

The Romans apparently suspected Paul of want of good faith, so he swears that this time at least he is telling the truth. "I say the truth in Christ; I lie not. My conscience also bears me witness in the Holy Ghost." Romans 9:1. Indeed there is nothing good in the gospels that we do not already possess in the Torah, and the things bad in the Evangel we have no desire for.

Protestant and Catholic clergy in Chicago are out in the public press inviting the Jews to form one great faith. That means the Jew must sacrifice his Judaism. Rev. John W. Herring, Secretary of the Federal Council of Churches, came out with a lengthy article in the January Literary Digest, "A Jewish-Christian Task." He aims to bring Jew and Christian together. He pleads thus: "Nothing is lost, everything may be gained by brotherly contact between groups of different faiths." His reason for coming together Mr. Herring gives thus: "Which is the better servant," asks Jesus, "he that goeth or he that goeth not." Even in their offer of compromise our Gentile friends make the proviso that the compromising would have to come from us since they keep the Jesus idea to the forefront.

Had the Agudath Harabonim acted and acted promptly, they would have forestalled Mr. Herring and the Chicago clergy's invitation to come together. Judaism has led our people for over two thousand long and bitter years through a good and moral life amidst terrible, unsurmountable obstacles. We need no prohibition. We are practically free from bloodshed. The world is learning to adopt the League of Nations, a Jewish product. Micah 4:1-7. We prefer to stay with the dear old boat that stood us in such good stead in the days of storm and tempest.

At a later date I will endeavour to explain to you how important it is in these days for every Jewish boy and girl to know and know well the New Testament, above all to know it in its bare nakedness and not under the borrowed colours as presented by Christian theologians. Our rabbis will continue to be guilty of sins of omission as long as they put our light under a bushel. Straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel is not the Jewish idea. Orthodox rabbis should abstain from such practices.

Dr. Stephen S. Wise is an independent thinker and may err often, but he is not the worse rabbi for all that. When he was invited to come to Montreal to make an appeal for the restoration fund, February 28, he came, refused pay, refused the railway fare. When the Canadian Jewish committee, a few months later invited Chazan Yosele Rosenblatt and Rabbi Masliansky to come to Montreal to make an appeal for the war victims, they agreed to come if they were paid $500.00 each and their expenses. Rosenblatt sang for the dead, and Masliansky wept for the dead, à la Bill Sunday, but they took about $1,200 from the funds belonging to the starving living widows and orphans. Rosenblatt, it was said, had an income of about $35,000 a year and Masliansky about $15,000 to $20,000. Which of the rabbis are Jews?

God save us from the Harabonim, and God bless the rabbis who love work and shun reward.

BAR BEN ZION.

Dr. Joel Blau, Chief Rabbi Hertz and Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, were the speakers at a recent meeting in London held in the interest of Jewish education. Sir Robert Waley-Cohen presided, and the sum of $65,000 was raised.

NEW ZIONIST PERSECUTIONS REPORTED IN RUSSIA

A cable despatch to the "Jewish Morning Journal" from Berlin states that new persecutions of Zionists in Soviet Russia are reported in despatches from Moscow to the Central Bureau of the Poale Zion. According to these reports, Zionist Socialists who were exiled to Naryn, Turkistan, Ural and Kirgisa were interned with their families in concentration camps. This was done following charges brought against them that while in exile they still maintain their party affiliations with the Zionists. Following the departure of a group of Zionists, who were permitted to leave for Palestine instead of being exiled, 100 of their friends were arrested by the political police in Odessa.

Another cable despatch from Riga to the Jewish Telegraph Agency, says: A number of Zionists were arrested in Kamienetz-Podolok, following tumultuous scenes which occurred in a concert hall, according to a report in the Yiddish Communist paper, "Der Stern" of Charkoff. The Kiev opera singer, Samaryn, sang a satirical song on the present international situation. A group of Zionists who were present protested. The police intervened and arrested the Zionists, according to "Der Stern."

The paper states that Zionists throughout Russia are disturbing public meetings called for the purpose of propagating the Jewish agricultural settlement work. At a meeting in Nikolaeff, 1,000 Zionists who were present, disturbed the meeting, according to the paper.

TORONTO SOCIAL

All Society (home and other local) notes should be communicated to the office of the Review by 5 o'clock each Tuesday afternoon. Telephone Elgin 1436-1437.

The Canadian Jewish Review urges organizations and subscribers to send in all the news they know about, but material is left out when at all difficult to read. No single-spaced typing accepted. News typed in double or triple space receives the best attention. Otherwise it should be written very plainly in ink on one side of the paper only with names and initials accurate. Articles concerning elections, appointment of committees, etc., which do not include names of those chosen will not be used. Accounts of engagements, marriages, births and deaths must bear name and telephone number of sender for easy identification. When news is omitted it usually means that it was not received in time or that it was received in condition too hard to correct or to be handled by the printer. Please observe the rules!

DR. JOEL BLAU IN ENGLAND

A hearty welcome has been accorded to Rabbi Joel Blau on his arrival in England to take charge of the West London Synagogue, as its Chief Minister. Rabbi Blau spoke at a meeting held last week in London in connection with a fund that was being raised for the purposes of Jewish education. The Chief Rabbi delivered an address at the same meeting. Mr. Winston Churchill, former British Secretary of the Colonies, spoke on the favourable position of the Jews in England and of their duty in the reconstruction of the land. A sum of $65,000 was collected at the dinner, which was presided over by Sir Robert Waley-Cohen.

THE PLIGHT OF POLISH JEWRY

The epidemic of unemployment has spread throughout Poland, and thousands of Jewish families are on the verge of complete ruin unless immediate relief is extended to them. The Jewish Club of the Deputies in Seim decided to send a delegation to America at an early date in order to explain to American Jewry the situation as it exists and to obtain some relief here. Jewish merchants in Warsaw also decided to send a delegation to America which shall obtain a loan for the co-operative bank which the Jewish business men maintain. Italian banks also have been asked to extend credit to Jewish merchants in Poland, and Deputy Wisniewski left for Italy with this purpose in view.

It was reported that in Lodz alone there are 230,000 Jews exposed to want and suffering as a result of the unemployment. In Vilna also tens of thousands of Jews are forced to avail themselves of the soup kitchens which have been established there. The Lemberg Jewish Kehillah received a demand of an army of unemployed to allot the sum of 25,000 zlotys for immediate relief. Similar reports of distress and starvation come from all the more important towns in Poland, showing that the conditions are becoming more and more grave. It is feared that disease and epidemics will come in the wake of malnutrition and the communities are entirely unprepared to cope with such a possible peril.

Theodor Fritsch, who was found guilty of libel against the Hamburg Jewish banker, Warburg, and was given three months in jail, had the decree modified by a higher court, which reduced the penalty to a payment of 1,000 marks. Fritsch is the editor of the anti-Semitic paper, "Der Hammer," where he brought charges of disloyalty against Warburg.

NORTHERN ONTARIO CANADA

Northern Ontario, now open for settlement in 160-acre blocks at fifty cents per acre, contains millions of acres of the finest agricultural land in the world. Its resources in lumber, minerals, water power, fish, game and scenery, are immense. The land calls for men to cultivate it, and in return will give health, comfort and prosperity.

What settlers say of the soil, climate, farming and forest life, is told in a most attractive booklet issued under the direction of the Honourable John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario. Full instructions in regard to acquiring a title to these rich agricultural lands are also given.

opposing sharp shooters. Posen and Altman helped out.

The juveniles defeated the Las Broadview quintette 23-15, Saturday, on the Association floor. This gave the Association juveniles a place in the play-off. Harry Lister and Perry Skurko stood out with their shooting. Al Pasternack and Toots Gluskin played well at centre. Prousky and Hersenhoren broke up many of the opposing team's attempts to score. Dalkin and Joseph showed good form. The Midgets lost to Rotakins, 24-16. Leckis and Bombsy played well for the Association.

Membership open. Junior class for boys under fifteen; intermediate for boys under eighteen; senior for young men under twenty-one. The business men's is open for men over the age of twenty-one. Members meet any evening from the secretary's office, 9-13 Brunswick Avenue.

and Elfred, of Whitby. The funeral was held Sunday in New York.

The death occurred at three o'clock Thursday morning, February 4, of Mrs. Rebecca Eiser in her 75th year, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. Rotenberg, 369 Palmerston Boulevard. She is survived by one son, Carl Eiser, two daughters, Mrs. C. Rotenberg and Mrs. H. Rotenberg, and eight grandchildren. Mrs. Eiser lived in Toronto for the past twenty-five years.

MARRIAGES

Levinson-Samuels

The marriage of Rita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Samuels, to Dr. Robert M. Levinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barnett Levinson, of Kenora, Ontario, was solemnized in the Pompeian Room of the King Edward Hotel, Rabbi Gordon officiating, assisted by Rabbi Jesse Schwartz and Cantor Barzin. Miss Gold, accompanied by Miss Goodfellow, sang "O Promise Me." The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of crepe Elizabeth, trimmed with pearls, rhinestones and Princess lace. Her veil of net and Princess lace was arranged in cap effect and was caught at each side with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids, white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Olive Samuels, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honour, and wore a gown of beige chiffon velvet and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses. Maxine Samuels was flower girl, wearing a frock of flesh georgette over flesh satin. She carried a basket of sweet pea petals; and Estelle Hershman was train-bearer, wearing a frock of French net over flesh satin. Dr. Bernard Willinsky was best man. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond wrist watch. A dinner was served to sixty guests and a reception was held to 300 guests. They were received by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Samuels, the latter wearing a gown of black lace over gold cloth with a black Spanish shawl and corsage of tea roses and lilies-of-the-valley; and Mr. and Mrs. Barnett Levinson, the latter wearing a French gown of mahogany georgette, beaded, and corsage of tea roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The out-of-town guests were: H. Levi, of Winnipeg, grandfather of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Barnett Levinson, Albert Levinson, of Kenora, Ont.; Mrs. Harry A. Samuels and daughter Maxine, of Montreal, Que.; H. L. Levi, of Winnipeg; Mr. Goldbloom, of Vancouver, B.C.; Miss Mollie Saxe and Tom Saxe, of Ottawa, Ont.; and Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Hower, of Guelph, Ont. Dr. and Mrs. Levinson left for Montreal, Philadelphia and Atlantic City, the bride travelling in a French navy blue crepe two-piece dress with hat to match and a grey carcul coat with platinum fox trimming. They will live in New York.

The children of the Religious School are preparing a for Purim entertainment for Sunday, February 28. At the assembly of the school, February 7, Class 6 presented a resolution of regret and farewell to L. A. Stirling, their teacher, who is leaving Hamilton. The resolution was read by Harold Pliskow, a member of the class, and responded to by Mr. Stirling. The Young Judean Leaders' Class, director Rabbi Freund, will be resumed Tuesday night at his home after an interruption of two weeks due to Rabbi Freund's absence from the city. Study Circle meeting, Monday night, February 15, at the home of Mrs. S. Lyons, 76 Proctor Boulevard.

medicine running as high as sixty-five per cent. Sixty per cent. of the children attending school live on weak tea and black bread distributed by the school authorities. And there is imminent danger that the schools will have to close.

"There is grave danger of the outbreak of typhoid and other epidemics caused by hunger, and the communities are without means of safe-guarding themselves against this new peril. One hundred per cent. of 4,000 school children examined for fifth diseases have been found to be infected.

This message is more than confirmed by the numerous letters received by private individuals.

There is a situation in European Jewry which requires immediate action. The Keren Hayesod cannot meet the situation. Relief, generous whole-hearted relief, is necessary. The conscience of world Jewry is challenged. Our brethren need us and we must be their keepers. Zionist leaders, many of them kin to the suffering folk of Europe, cannot afford to ignore their call. They must recognize that the new Palestine must be built spiritually, and it will not be built spiritually if its leaders with myopic vision push on to their goal and ignore the pleading agony of thousands of Jews. Zionism must not degenerate into fanaticism, the sort of fanaticism that says, "Ignore these starving folk. Our ideal is more important." That fanaticism must be combatted, and Zionists ought to take the initiative in doing so for the recalcitrant groups who say all for Zionism and naught for European relief, we fear are alienating many of Palestine's friends, while doing a grave injustice to the legitimate and earnest appeal for help of European Jewry. Strengthen the Keren Hayesod by all means, but also strengthen the Joint Distribution Committee. Zionism and European relief are not in opposition. We believe that Jews will meet the demands of both.

EMPIRE

Statuesque Flo Naomi who is seen as the prima donna and leader of the chorus in "Bringing up Father in Burlesque" at the Empire Theatre week of February 15, has been the producer of a score of stunning costumes of an individual type during her seasons in Columbia Burlesque. "How do I do it?" she answered to the natural question. "I don't know; it's just a knack, that's all. If I were asked to sit down and design some of these creations that are put together for me, I'd be at a total loss, so I fall back on one of the earliest of my glories. Making doll's clothes? You guessed it. I get a little bit of this and a little bit of that, never forgetting the values of the net and the lace in the larger detail. Sometimes I work out a dozen costumes, before I get the one that would best fit the idea I have in the back of my head. Then, when I go to a real regular dressmaker, I do not have to sit around for hours trying to tell her what I want, for it's a good deal different getting a burlesque costume made than it is to go into the first modiste's shop down the street to buy a dress."

Few announcements have been received with greater interest than the statement that Clara Kimball Young would be the headline attraction at Shea's next week. For Miss Young's use, Tom Barry wrote a comedy of manners called "His Adorable Wife." Miss Young has a delightful voice and her vaudeville tour has been one of real triumph. She is supported by a clever company.

Tom Smith describes his efforts as "An Artist, a Gentleman and a Scholar," and there is really nothing more to be said.

Willie Solar may well call himself "The International Entertainer." In every country supporting an English-speaking theatre, Mr. Solar has played stellar engagements. In London he was the star of musical revues at the Hippodrome and he has been seen in a similar capacity all around the world. The fact has made him an accomplished linguist.

"X-Wives" is presented by a company of six, headed by Jimmy Dunn, a speeding funster, a comedian who breaks the laughing speed regulations.

Other features on the bill are Will and Gladys Ahern in "A Spinning Romance," Mae Miller & Company in "Melodious Vibrations," "Golfing across Canada" and an Aesop Fable.

Tom Mix is to be seen in his latest picture at Loew's next week. In reality this is all that any theatre, fortunate enough to secure a Mix production, need announce, for no other picture personality stands so completely for value in entertainment. In "The Yankee Senor" Tom Mix's newest picture, which comes to Loew's Theatre next week, the popular western star demonstrates that he is something more than a mere doer of daring stunts on horseback.

Among other things, the script requires him to execute a peppy tango, since the locale is Mexico. Although tangoing has heretofore been a bit out of the cowboy actor's line, he took an intensive course and, according to advance reports from the Fox West Coast Studios, he has nothing to learn.

In order to master the tango, Mr. Mix was obliged to forego his daily boxing exercise and put in the time under the tutelage of Carlos Sebastian, internationally famous tango master, who expressed delight at the aptness of his famous pupil.

The cast in support of Mix includes Olive Borden, who appears opposite him as Manuelita, a winsome senorita, Kathryn Hill, Martha Mattox, Margaret Livingston, Alec Francis and Francis McDonald.

DEBATE ON SEPARATE SCHOOLS FOR JEWS

Monday, February 22, at 8.15 p.m., two University of Toronto organizations, the Academy and the Menorah Society will debate the question, "Resolved, that there be established in Canada a separate school system for the Jews." The debate is being held under the patronage of the Bnai Brith apropos the judgment in the Montreal school case handed down by the Supreme Court of Canada last week. Music. who left Canada under a false sense of imagined grievance. But one would like to have some information as to the "racial origin" of the others who constitute the majority.

In the meantime there does not seem to be any great enthusiasm manifested in England in response to the Dominion Settlement Scheme. The newspapers are telling us that there is marked reluctance on the part of the "dole"-supported unemployed to emigrate to any land where they would have to work for a living. The letters home from settlers in Canada are full of discouraging reports, and efforts are being made to induce those settlers to colour their writing home with a little more cheerfulness. At the same time the optimists in Canada who wish, and are able, to bring their relatives over from the mid-European hells are restricted by the humiliating regulations of the "Selected Immigration" policy. An illuminating aspect of the situation is to be found in a recent editorial in the Winnipeg Tribune, which was considered of sufficient importance for quotation in the Montreal Star. The quotation, in the Star, is as follows:—"Farm values in Manitoba are strikingly low in comparison with farm values in states like Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa. Yet Manitoba farm lands are quite as good for agricultural purposes as the soil of any of these states. They are accessible to railways and with one single exception enjoy all the advantages possessed by the states where farm values range from $100 to $400 an acre. The one exception is the home market. High priced farm lands in the central states are within reach of industrialized centres providing a steady and profitable market. That is the great need of the farmers of Manitoba. Mixed farming in this province is making extraordinary headway. The export market is good as far as it goes, but it needs behind it the home demand, which can be found only in the growth of our urban centres. Premier Bracken reveals a far-seeing and enlightened concern in the problems of the Manitoba farmer when he urges the importance of industrial development in the province."

That is the situation in a nutshell. The Canadian farmer cannot be successful without populated urban centres, developed by industry and commerce. And yet, how long ago was it that the cry went up that the Canadian cities were over populated? While "Selected Immigration" is still the declared policy, meaning thereby an immigration that will go on the land, the problem of the land settler is to secure larger and more populated cities. Thus the vicious circle revolves, and Canada is held back from a natural and necessary development. But the most significant fact of all is to be found in the introduction, last summer, of one-man street cars by the Winnipeg Electric Railway. On routes that a few years ago had the most frequent schedules of running, there are to-day fewer cars, and the traffic does not warrant the employment of more than one man on each car, combining the duties of motorman and conductor. The argument that reduced population causes unemployment, and that the more the population becomes depleted the less opportunity there is for employment of those who remain, was pooh-poohed. But the experience of Winnipeg is a complete answer. Canada needs population, urban population and everything that urban population implies. There is room in Canada for more farm development, especially now that the farmers in the west have learned that they can derive a better and more secure livelihood from mixed farming on less land. But, unless there are sufficient city dwellers to provide, by their industry, a larger market for the produce of the farm, the farmers cannot hope for an improvement in their conditions. "Selected Immigration" cannot remedy this state of affairs, for the principle of "Selected Immigration" restricts all but farmers and prospective farmers. Jews and Central Europeans and Mediterraneans swarm the cities, we are told. That now should be the reason why they should be welcomed. It is claimed that they are not easily assimilated. As a matter of fact they have been very easily assimilated in the cities. Those who are here already have given very little trouble. Looking back with calmer minds over the war years, it is surprising what little trouble they actually did cause. The enemy alien was the least troublesome of all elements in the country. The Winnipeg strike was the work of Nordics. East and Central Europeans have settled on the land in larger numbers than in the cities, and they have in no real way proved a detriment to Canada, except in the muddled minds of theorists, excited by the hallucinations of war fever. The Redcoats were better employed in creating a respect for British law and order among non-Nordics than in being kept from interfering with Nordic smuggling activities, if the charges of the Hon. H. H. Stevens are sustained in investigation.

What Canada needs to-day is a revision of its attitude and theories. We need to have the doors thrown open to all who desire to come here, who are willing to work, able-bodied and able to support themselves, who are prepared to respect and abide by our institutions, who are satisfied to have their children educated as Canadians. An increase in that type of population will soon create opportunities that do not exist at present. Immigration of the desired type will soon be attracted without unprofitable touting and the questionable expense of assisted passages. It is true that an immigration of Central and Southern Europeans on a large scale will impose a burden on the west. The proportion of non-British in the prairie provinces is large. But British institutions have flourished in the west. In no part of Canada are British institutions and the British spirit kept at a higher standard than in the west. The British in the west have done a work of assimilation and Canadianization that is unequalled in any part of the Empire, and the British in the west have not become weaker. Impartially viewed with a mind freed from the delusions of false racial theories and religious prejudices, the adventure in the west has been a brilliant success. Let those who are still cherishing the will o' the wisp of "Selective Immigration" give thought, honestly patriotic thought, to the true aspect of Canada's immediate welfare and future promise, and they will see that the way to prosperity lies through a liberal policy of immigration which will welcome all who are willing to take a share in the building up of a country founded on British institutions. Physical and moral fitness and a declaration to accept our standards should be the only conditions of "Selected Immigration."

POLISH GOVERNMENT MAKES CONCESSIONS

Now that the economic conditions in Poland have become intolerable and that the cry of the distressed can no more be hushed, the government in Poland has decided to make some concessions to the Jews, although it is doubtful whether the Jews will be able to use them now. A special committee appointed by the Cabinet approved of several recommendations which tend toward alleviating the difficulties that were until now in the way of securing citizenship and towards legalizing the use of the Hebrew and the Yiddish languages in mails and in telegrams. Other minor grievances have been considered by the committee and decided in favour of the Jews. There is, however, no mention of the righting of the many economic wrongs against the Jews, which were brought to the front recently. The complaint that Jews are systematically debarred from public office or from work of a public nature, which has been brought by the Jews of Galicia and of other provinces in Poland, has thus far remained unanswered. A slight modification in the Sunday closing law, permitting Jews to keep open their shops two hours longer than others on Saturday evenings when they reopen after the Sabbath and also on Sunday morning for a few hours has been adopted as an administrative order.

DELEGATIONS TO AMERICA

From almost every country in Eastern Europe and from every individual organization in these lands, delegations are preparing to visit America with a view of enlisting the aid of American Jews. Several such delegations are already here while others are on the way or preparing to proceed. The Polish Jewish deputies have taken a stand on this matter, endeavouring to discourage this procession. From Roumania, Dr. William Filderman, the president of the Union of Roumanian Jews and member of the Roumanian Parliament, is expected to arrive in New York on March 1. Rabbi Solomon Twersky, known as the Rabbi of Tchernoble, is on this way from Soviet Russia to America.
